REORGANIZATION ANNOUNCED IN PROCESS AND TECHNICAL DEPARTMENTS

Effective June 21, 1971, the following organization changes took place in the Technical and Process Departments. In the Technical Department, a new Crude and Products Coordination Division was formed, consisting of two sections: the (short range) Economics Section headed by Bill Duke, and a Coordination Section, under Charlie Bateman.

Up to August 1, 1971, the new Crude and Products Coordination Division will be under August Genser, who will then assume a two-year assignment in New York in the Economics Section of the Creole-New York Sales Department. On August 1, Don McLaughlin will assume responsibility of this new division.

The Economics and Planning Division will be renamed Planning and Projects Development and will be under the direction of John Bolich.

Also effective June 21, Jim Beissel returned from the HDS Task Force to assume supervision of the Process Engineering Division, which will now also provide technical support for the HDS units.

In the Process Department, the Supply Division has been eliminated and its blending functions have been consolidated into the Terminal Division, which was renamed the Oil Movements Division. Trev Rhydderch heads this division.
